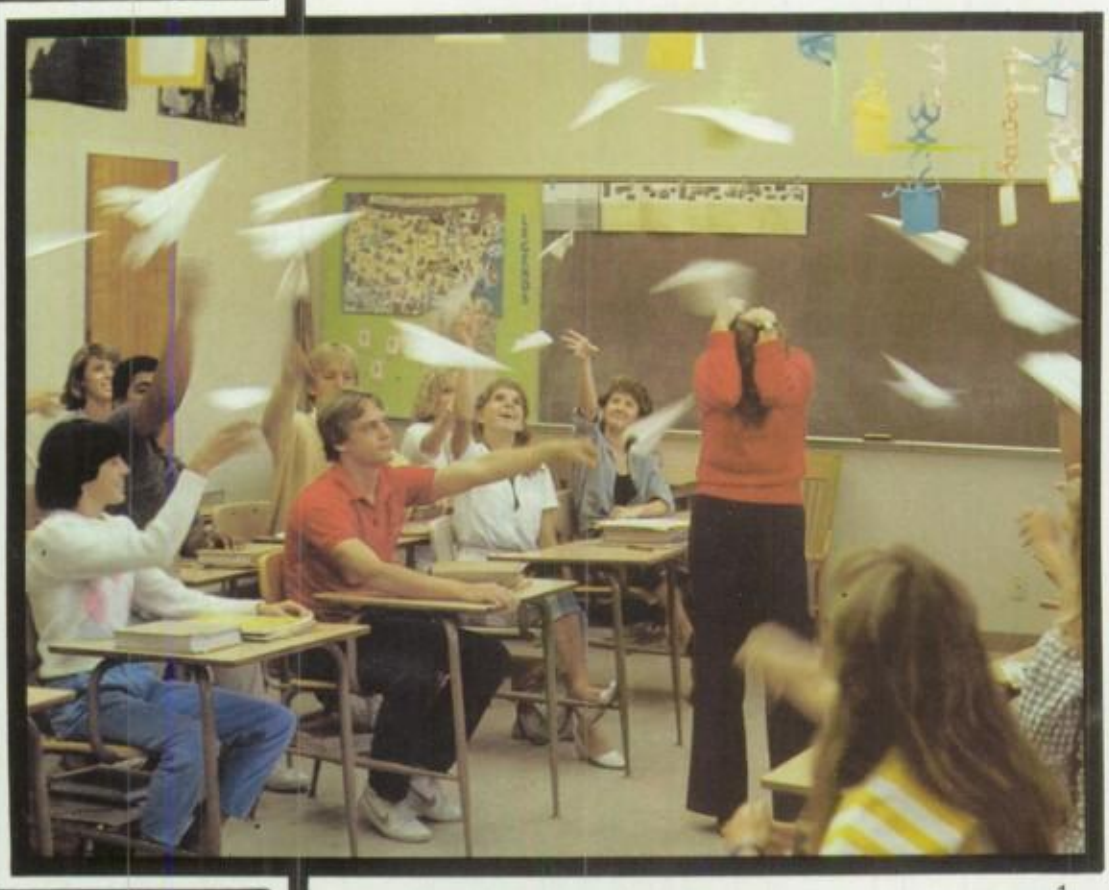
Share The Dream



Each year, junior high school students dreamed of the day they would enter Lakewood High School. Upon their arrival, they discovered an atmosphere of pride, excellence and confidence. They dreamed of what was in store for them for the ensuing three years. Realizing what was expected of them, they began their uphill climb with the red and white perserverance known as Lancer spirit. Juniors continued their ascent through their toughest year, determined to score higher than ever in hopes of impressing universitites, scouts and peers. The Class of 1985 lived the Lakewood dream to the fullest, counting the days until graduation. Each Lancer, regardless of where the future might lead, cherished the memories and shared the dreams of years well spent in acquiring an excellent education.

1.There was never a dull moment in MRS. HUMMER'S third period class. 2. Hundreds of balloons escape to celebrate Lakewood's 1984 homecoming. 3. CHRIS BLACHOWICZ shares the olympic spirit by displaying her many medals. 4. Perfect form is exhibited by JUDY EVITTS on the balance beam. 5. ANNA MCCOMBER, TRACY TRAIL, JAMIE BARCUS and ROBERTA MARICICH race towards the finish while their teammates cheer them on. 6. SOPHOMORE DRILL lines up as VARSITY CHEER kicks off an exciting rally. 7. Congratulations are in order for super-students RICK MAINGOT and CINDY MATHEWSON. 8. Future success was one of DIANA JONES' dreams. 9. The LANCER symbolized strength and loyalty.

No Pain — No Gain

Lancers worked with great determination to be the best that they could possibly be. Staying in shape both physically and academically was no easy task. From hours of team practice to the grueling ordeal of training for a local triathalon, the Lancer spirit shown brightly. Each dawn brought with it the promise of hard work necessary for improvement. The road to success was not always paved with yellow bricks; however, Lancers, with their resolution to be #1, faced all road blocks with zest and vigor!

1. A new brand of athlete emerged from the depths of the Lakewood locker room, the "TRIATHLETE." Starting their Seal Beach run are TIM ROBINETT, SCOTT HACHIYA and JAMIE BARCUS. 2. RENE PENA obviously likes what she sees! 3. FRANK VALLELUNGA finds that the road to excellence is paved with a great amount of hard work. 4. The winning class in the PTA contest, MR. WOOD'S PERIOD TWO, shows who is number one. 5. MR. SPARKMAN lectures on the Revolutionary War to LISA COLLISON, KIM PHILLIPS and DAVID BAYLESS, three potential 4.0 juniors. 6. TOM SHOFFNER likes being on top of things. 7. SCOTT WISDOM does his best in defending the Lancer's goal. 8. SCOTT CLYDESDALE uses the "ol' headache excuse" to get out of running a few extra laps. 9. RIP ROCKSTAD and TIM JORDAN find the pain of paying fines before being enrolled. 10. The JV FOOTBALL TEAM dominated all of their opponents. 11. JEWELL SMITH is all smiles as she gets in a quick workout. 12. COACH WHITTINGTON is less than happy with JULIE DJIE'S late arrival for early-morning workouts.

We've Only Just Begun

The "Class of '87" arrived on the Lakewood campus eager to learn and ready to participate. Although the first few weeks were sometimes trying, with problems in finding new classes, meeting new friends and exploring the campus, the sophomores settled down in no time to fit into the overall picture of the school. Getting involved was one of the most important steps sophs could take; whether it was team sports, clubs, senates, journalism, ROTC or music, each had a place for his special interests. By mid-year, the course the sophomores would sail until their graduation had been firmly sculpted from the many academic and extra-curricular choices offered to them.

1. RODNEY STEWART and MRS. COBB cannot discover what CRICKET STALWART thinks is so funny. 2. A 1985 innovation, THE SOPHOMORE DRILL TEAM added extra spirit to snack rallies. 3. Dancing her way through the crowd, NIKI ARMSTRONG enjoys the Homecoming Dance. 4. MRS. TORRES helps a new student get off to a great start by locating his schedule. 5. The Pankcake Breakfast, a Booster Club tradition, provides a warm welcome for SAL BARKEMA and his mother. 6. Filling out the all-important emergency data card was the first step in GREG MYERS' high school career. 7. BOBBY POWELL and his friends enjoy a moment at lunch to catch up on the latest gossip. 8. Sophomore senators ANNE WITKOWSKI and KATHE BOWLER listen intently as JULIE DJIE explains her ideas for a fund raiser. 9. MR. FOX waits impatiently for the results of MIKE'S written test at the DMV. 10. GARRET RHEBERG pays close attention to MRS. OBER'S homework assignment. 11. DAVID JONES drives the best stretch-limo around.

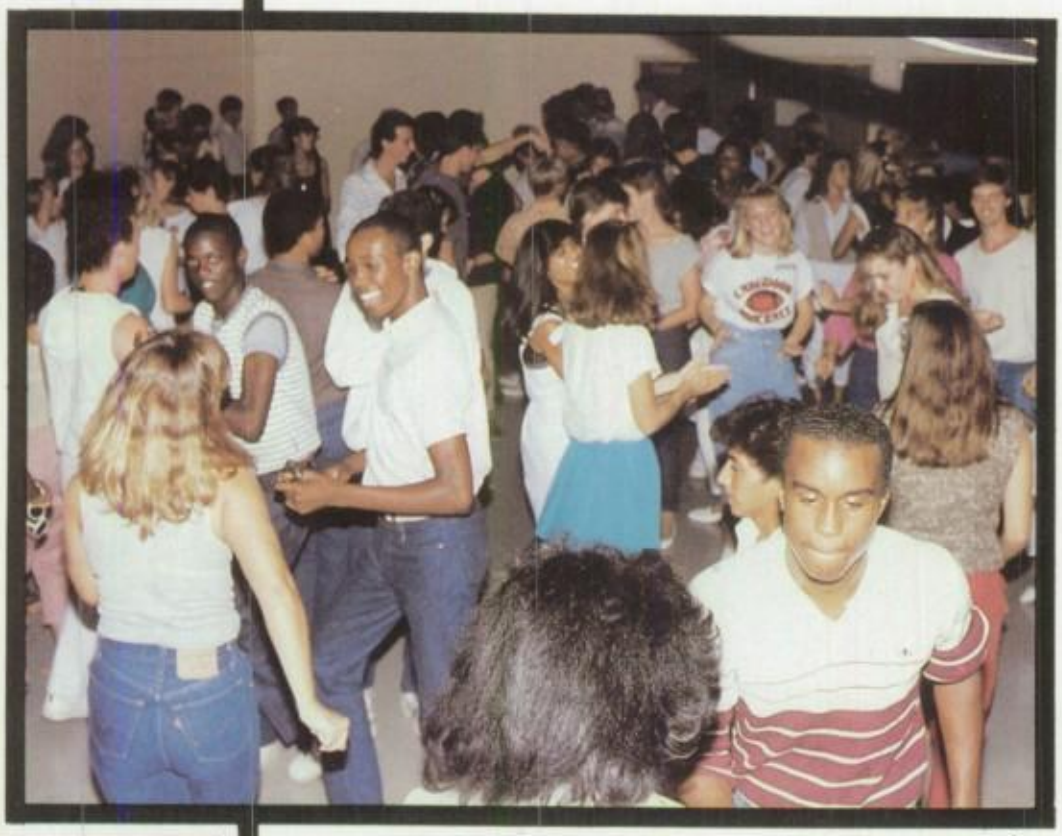
The Place To Be

Any place that allowed Lancers to be themselves was the place to be in 1985. The originality of Lakewood's pepsters made rallies awesome and entertaining; staying on campus to watch them was a major innovation. Some Lancers found no need to leave the campus to participate in their favorite activities, while others found that working and taking part in off-campus events were equally thrilling. Quiet moments spent with close friends were often the best escape. Wherever one went, Lancers could be spotted doing what they do best — just being themselves.



1. MARCUS WILSON found that the dance at the Lakewood Youth Center was the place to be after a Friday night game. 2. Fine-tuning LARRY the ROBOT was just one of JIM SURLOW'S many talents in advanced electronics. 3. GEOFF BARTON and DEBRA KOONS spend a relaxing day on a aquacycle at Alamitos Bay. 4. MR. HOWEY is proud of the work TODD HUGHES did to insure the success of the first issue of the LANCE. 5. Riding high in the air on Knott's parachute ride is a thrilling experience for JULIE MILLER and STEVE SOTH. 6. CRAIG MCDONALD and the video class learn the importance of editing their work as they screen an original production. 7. MR. LYMAN and the PEPSTERS prove that the most important place to be on home game days is the snack rally. 8. Grandma's Sugarplum is a favorite sweet spot for MATT PAUL and RALPH MAHAFFEY. 9. ELIZABETH BOLLA, TRACIE MASLOW and MARNIE AMBERCOMBIE catch the last few rays of summer. 10. The latest lip fashions are sampled by SUSAN MILLS and HOLLY ROOP. 11. Service with a smile gave STEFFANI CAPPELLI some extra money. 12. DENISE ROBBINS prepares for the ski season.

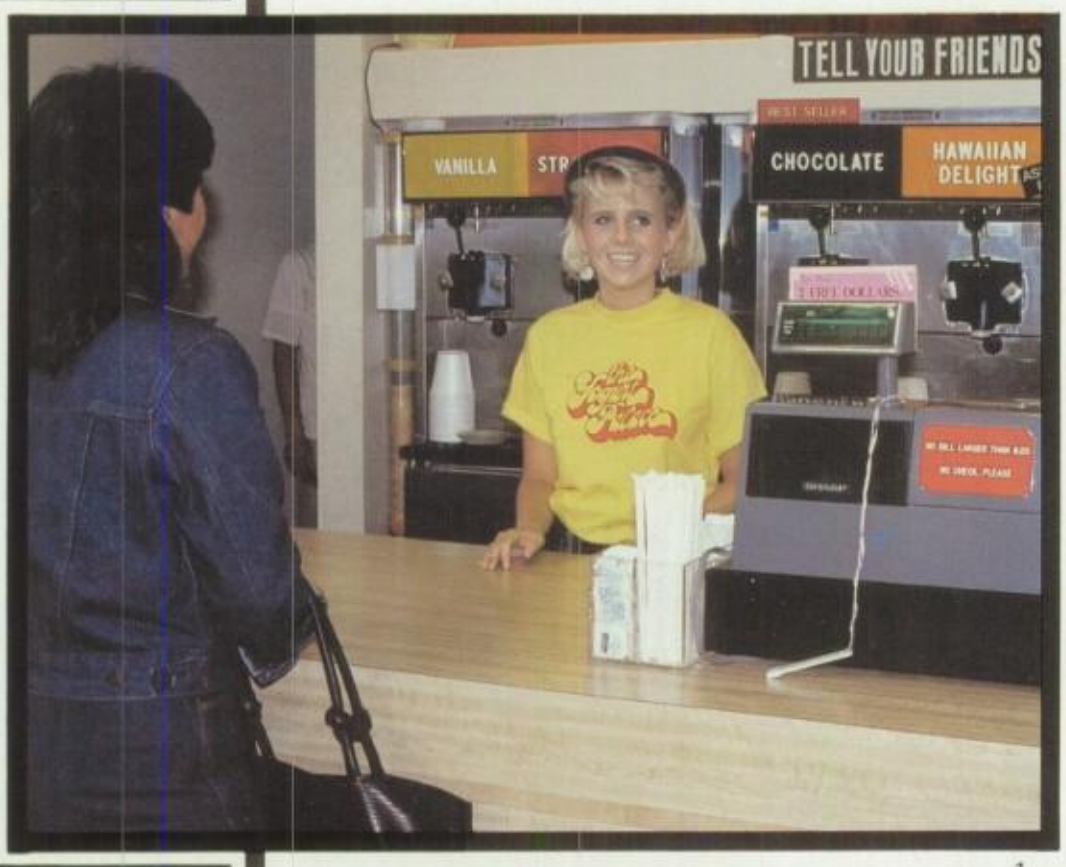
On The Flip Side



A "different" life began after the end of seventh period for most Lancers. Whether it was off to work or play, practice or study, students and teachers left the hectic and demanding classroom to enter another world. Making extra money was never frowned upon; thus, many Lancers found themselves punching a time clock. For those who didn't find themselves behind a counter or in uniform, favorite hobbies like surfing the last set before sundown consumed their free time. For a great number of Lancers the day did not end until perfection had been reached on the athletic fields, in the orchestra pit, on the pepsters' pavement or in the mirror room. No matter how they spent their time, one could be assured that it was always well-spent.

1. TAMMY LOTSPEICH spends some of her extra time preparing Hawaiian Delight. 2. PEP CLUB leaders TERESA HENLEY and RUSSIA MADDEN show who is number one! 3. Cruising the campus, STEVE GWINN displays his skateboarding prowess. 4. A quick game of PacMan is enjoyed by ERIC SIMS and LISA DAVIS. 5. JERAMIE FAWSON and KIMMI BOATMAN keep pushin' those chocolate chips. 6. Hosts RICK AND SHELLY MEDINA share a bubbling good time with their friends, JAIME ROMERO, SAM BRISCOE, BRIAN GREBECK and PAT MAY. 7. Pizza delivery provides extra cash for LOUIS BON. 8. MATT KNEELAND tends one of the best-kept lawns in Lakewood. 9. TPing was how MAGGIE COURTNEY and JILL STAITTI showed their friendship. 10. MATT STALLINGS gets a kick out of the way KELLI FAWSON returns her shopping cart. 11. Classroom sounds are provided by SOTEVY MAK.

Bringing Worlds Together

Culture shock was turned into an extinct disease by Dr. Lancer and his welcoming staff. Lakewood's great melting pot of color, race, nationality and interests made submerging oneself into strange water simple, fast and easy. Flags of numerous countries waved proudly throughout the school in the form of radiant smiles and high scholastic achievement. Literature, food, language, sports and music were used as vehicles to promote better understanding of all ethnic groups. The ESL classes were springboards used by new arrivals to catapult them into the mainstream of Lancer life. Sharing, helping and adjusting were part of being a Lancer and each student participated in bringing the world a little closer together.

1. Taking time out from their busy schedules, the FLAG GIRLS give a benefit performance at the Sunshine Pre-school. 2. Exactness and neatness are two of the attributes ARNEL MANILOSA learned from MR. KREBS. 3. Samurai warriors are no match for the inscrutable MR. HOLZMAN as he models the kimono given to him on the sister cities exchange program. 4. The world of books is opened for YVONNE LIVINGSTON by MRS. COOKE. 5. MRS. SWAYZE contemplates an answer from her Exceptionally Smart Linguists (ESL) class. 6. Few problems faced JULIE GREETHONG because MR. GRAY was her counselor. 7. Latino dancers add delightful flair to the International Fair. 8. The CIVIS computer furnishes a job match for ANTHONY KEYS. 9. Power volleyball class brings out the best in everyone. 10. The PTA Milk Bowl fosters good sportsmanship and friendship among school. 11. The "ol' bounce 'em on the noggin' soccer trick" is a lesson well-learned by ALEX ORTIZ.

Through Thick And Thin

Anything could happen, and it usually did. No matter how sticky the situation, Lancers were always ready to lend a helping hand. Bonds tightened in the trying times as friends turned to one another for compassion and understanding in an array of perplexing situations. Whether it was a relationship on the rocks or a failing grade in physics, someone was there to listen. There were plenty of good times to be shared as well. Secrets decorated athlete's lockers and poured tons of junk food down the unsuspecting. Laughs, thrills and tender moments were shared by all.

1. CHUCK WALTY shows how his new automatic starter operates on his flashy go cart. 2. During an evening get together, the SECOND CHAPTER SINGERS pig out on a trough of ice cream. 3. The BAKER SISTERS, EVE and GAIL, survey the contents of the fruit machine for a treat at snack. 4. KAREN NELSON and DENA WIDENER, inseparable friends, pose for a quick photograph. 5. VARSITY BASEBALL looks on with glee as COACH O'NEIL autographs his citation. 6. MIKE STROH and LAURA MCDONALD found that studying for the SAT was easier in pairs. 7. ALICIA DONNOVAN and JEFF LAWSON found that the sweetest of sweet tooth could be satisfied at the local candy store. 8. MELISA BICKFORD and TRICIA WALKER are bombarded with "fallout" from their shared locker. 9. MRS. SHROTMAN lends a helping hand in daughter JILL'S education. 10. KAPOW 2, the world's ugliest automobile, sometimes got a bit more than one hundred miles per gallon with a little help from MR. RUTHERFORD'S friends.

In The Spotlight

Hours of practice proved to be well worth the effort as audiences were dazzled by the performances of talented Lancers. The Second Chapter Singers' melodies floated through the air, while jazz band wailed their pieces to toe-tapping audiences. Full capacity crowds gave standing ovations to dance and musical recitals, as well as to the all-school play. The Lakewood marching band, some 200 strong, carried Lancer pride into each of its performances. European travelers found that their guides always kept them in the spotlight. Scholastic achievers were singled out for their accomplishments, while others were given recognition for the multitude of services they had done for the school. The year proved to be very productive as the spotlight shown brightly on the LHS campus.

1. BARRY ROBINSON is amazed by MR. SCHOONOVER'S creative suggestion for his crafts project. 2. Wide-open CHAD LE FEVBRE goes for the touchdown. 3. Another virtuoso performance is turned in by a superb violinist. 4. DEBBIE LUJAN and SCOTT COFFEE execute a dazzling cheer stunt. 5. Gotcha!

Both off campus and on, many Lancers found themselves i difficult or embarrassing situations. For some, it was a case learning from their mistakes; for others, misfortune turned t memories to look back upon in laughter. Though life's mo embarrassing moments are not all funny, Lancers took the all in stride. No matter how sticky the situation, they stuc together and were there to lend an outstretched han throughout the good times and the bad. Finding that life doe not always go as planned was an important lesson for mo students. Lancers learned that the road to excellence wa often a rocky one; the catch-phrase for many became: "Whe all else fails, laugh!"

1. An astounded MARTY GRAVES and her Bug become airborne with a litt help from the football team. 2. Physics homework never bored WAYN GIDLEY. 3. Secret signs prove to be STEVE YI'S undoing. 4. How Do You Spell Relief?

1

No matter what the locale was, Lancers spelled relief just about any way imaginable. After a difficult week of exams, experiments and practices, everyone was anxious to find a special form of escape. Those prized forty-eight hours were spent partaking of activities as diverse as the individuals who pursued them. Many could be found in or along the Pacific, while others preferred to skim across the glassy freshwater on their newest skiing equipment. For those with a flair for the dramatic, a three-day weekend or holiday break was the icing on the cake. Ski slopes and Hawaiian shores beckoned as many Lancers traveled far and wide to find their particular prescription for relief.

1. The Mojave desert provides the perfect place for CRAIG JONES and BRIAN LINN to do a doughnut. 2. It's clear how POOR OL' WOODY spells relief. 3. RIP ROCKSTAD gets the best of a Huntington Beach wave. 4. SCOTT WISDOM and MATT CULLEN shoot the spray as they ski Alamitos Bay. 5. Parachute sailing in Honolulu is a new high for BILL CONDIT. 6. JEFF NISSEN flys through the air at the 1984 motocross championships. 7. Keeping With The Times

LHS was a catalog of style, color and fashion. The campus came alive as the neon look became the "in" thing, creating a rainbow of day-glo pink, green, orange and yellow variations of socks, belts, purses and shirts. The preppy and GQ looks survived and were back to add a touch of nostalgia. Music became a major influence on dress as concert shirts were part of a fad. The punk look stayed the same, even though it was seen less and less. The most traditional dress was the standard blue jean/t-shirt combination. Keeping up with the lateset rage was executed with taste, mixed with an occasional walk on the wild side.

1. ANNE WITOWSKI, JULIE EDWARDS, RAVITH POK, SUZETTE RICHMOND and NICOLE MCBRIDE electrify the campus with their dazzling dress. 2. A different sort of look, popular in the '80s, is shown by DAN BLINCO, KEN GROTE, SHELLY BANCROFT, TINA CHAVEZ and STACEY KIRK. 3. Preppies and would-be preppies are among the stalwarts on the CITADEL STAFF. 4. The GQ style is personified by TERRY HERMAN, JAMES HORNSBY, JEFF NISSEN, CHRIS LYONS and STEVE RAY. 5. Skateboard wizardry is performed by DAVE EDWARDS. 6. CHERIE BARTSCHI and BRIAN OLSEN are the ultimate concert fans. 7. JULIE MILLER and STEVE SOTH discover a colorful display at Camp Snoopy. 8. Contempos all, this style is modeled by DIANE MCPEAK, LANA BOISEN, PAIGE ROSENBERG, STACY RICHARDS and ANGELA MABRY. 9. A noontime game of Trivial Pursuit provides some questions for SANDRA PAYTON, DAN MANSIR, KERRY LEIDICH and HEATHER SMALLEY. 10. A symbol of school pride, the letterman's jacket is proudly worn by MARCUS WILSON, STEVE VAN MANAAN, CORY THURBER, BARBARA TAYLOR and MIKE HANSARD.

Excellence Spoken Here

Dialects of every type floated through the LHS halls. From French, the language of love and diplomacy, to the technical jargon of advanced electronics, Lancers put their noses to the grindstone in mastering their new vocabularies. Keeping with tradition, Lancers hailed their school with the cherished alma mater. New additions to the faculty brought fresh ideas and styles to the curriculum. Students put their best foot forward in activities which proclaimed Lancer excellence. The just reward came in the forms of trophies and scholarships, plus the personal fulfillment of accomplishing the task.

1. The final group of Cadre Nine graduates in 1985. 2. SENOR MEDNICK, teaching Spanish for the first time, uses many visual aids to get his point across. 3. The Best Of Times

1

Wherever Lancers got together, they had the best of times. From the pancake breakfast to the excitement of graduation, Lancers were determined to live the year to the fullest. Seniors were dedicated to making their last year the best. They kept busy applying to colleges, taking the SAT, planning careers and trying to cure periodic outbreaks of senioritis. Juniors stuck in there and became comfortable as the people in the middle. The sophs soon learned the ropes and became among the most eager pursuers of good times. As the year came to an end, the memories of the good times were among the best.

1. Graduation provides an especially happy time for DIANE YOUNGSMA SUSAN LEE and their friends. 2. A beautiful prom dress catches CRISTINA RIZZI'S eye. 3. STEVE JOHNSON finds the perfect tux to complement hi date's dress. 4. Secretly decorating lockers early in the morning is how LIN DA NORMAN and TERI SANTANA help make birthdays special. 5. The Dream Continues

The road to the future had many branches; the skills learned at LHS left no Lancer at a dead end. Many found themselves packing prized possessions and heading for universities. Local colleges and trade schools proved popular with others. Full-time careers were another alternative. As seniors were breaking away, juniors dreamed of becoming the big men on campus, and sophs looked forward to the excitement that they knew awaited them. No matter what the goal, the dreams of good times, fine friends and an excellent education were more than fulfilled for the students of LHS.

1. Graduation good-byes are sad for MRS. HARVEY and RONNA CRATTY. 2. A guest speaker discusses the facts of motherhood with MRS. PATTERSON'S Parent and Child class. 3. MR. Homecoming 1984

Aloha Days was the theme selected by the school cabinet for the 1984 homecoming. All of the festivities of the week were based on the Hawaiian culture. Innovative events were scheduled throughout the week; they included a limbo contest, the banana-orange pass, old uniform day, the water balloon volley, a Hawaiian dance contest and the ever-popular pie-eating contest. As the big day arrived, many Lancers wore Hawaiian leis, print shirts and grass skirts. The Hawaiian Faire was the best ever, with plenty of alumni to take it all in. The crowning of Queen Rosemary provided the perfect ending to a perfect week.

1. Excited pepsters arrive in style for the big game. 2. "How low can you go?" STEFFIE MATHEWSON stretches to make the grade. 3. Aloha Days were sometimes wet and wild. 4. SCOTT WISDOM gets a mouthful of banana cream in his effort to win the pie-eating contest. 5. The auto wrecking booth was a smashing success. 6. The number one float belonged to the junior class. 7. TIM NEBERGALL and his MERRY BAND lead the night time rally in an awesome set of cheers. 8. CHERYL COBB and MATT VISCONTI go Hawaiian in a big way. 9. Sophomores turned out in force to build a beautiful float. 10. COACH STONER cooked the best "burgs" at the fair. 11. GREG GRAY throws the ball to sink MR. HOPKINS. 12. ALOHA LAKEW

Orchestra

Dressed in exquisite formal attire, their instruments gleaming, the orchestra performed excellent renditions of some very difficult arrangements. Director John Hannan honed his players' skills in his continuing effort to maintain Lakewood High School's tradition of excellence in the performing arts. Orchestra proved itself with the level of competency and music it displayed. Hard work and long hours of rehearsal showed in their harmonizing performances including the outstanding fall concert, the Christmas program, the spring fling and the capstone of the year, the musical. Concert Master Tony Park's virtuoso performances of the violin were among the highlights of the year. Other outstanding orchestra members included: Arlene DeDen, Monica Hsieh, Ray Avila, Stacey Kenzel, Tony Frank and Mary Morey. The wind section boasted the talents of Scott Carter, Linda McDonald and Gary Goodenough. All of the musicians were instrumental in achieving a great year.

1. Percussion — S. ARTHUR, M. GEIER, M. DESLER, F. SHOOK. 2. Cellos and Bass — First Row: T. FRANK, M. MOREY, D. CHARLES. Second Row: V. MOORE, C. CHEN. 3. Orchestra Director — JOHN HANNAN. 4. Band

Foremost among the reasons for the marching band's successes were the long hours that they spent rehearsing for both the music they produced and the many shows that they performed. Director Hannan seemed to have a firm grip on things, often cajoling his players into longer practice hours to improve the quality of the music. Competitions, morning pep rallies, half-time shows and campus concerts kept the marching band more than busy.

Cheer/Song/Flag/Jester

School spirit is an unknown quantity at many local high schools. However, LHS students were full of spirit and enthusiasm. What made the difference? Most of the credit belonged to the outstanding group of pepsters whose awesome routines and unflagging spirit kept hopes high. Rallies and games were filled with pride as the Lancer fans helped cheer their teams to victory. The explosive routines and musical numbers of all of the groups helped make LHS #1!

1. JV YELL was responsible for some of the most innovative routines seen at Lakewood High School. The group included: DANA HOOTEN, DEBBIE RIGGS, JAIME ROMERO, ALEJANDRA GARCIA, MICHELLE MCNEILL and TERESA HENLEY. 2. JV YELL gets together for a moment of relaxation during a snack rally. 3. ROBYN LANE was an expert flag girl who was also responsible for much of the group's success. 4. Varsity Yell girls DEBRA LUJAN, JANICE RAINER and BARBARA TAYLOR wow the crowd with an upbeat musical number. 5. VARSITY YELL could always be counted on to provide the number one attraction at rallies and games. These outstanding cheerleaders are: MONICA WALKER, DEBBIE LUJAN, JANICE RAINER, MICHELLE DAVIDLOO, SHARILL HANNS, SCOTT COFFEE, BARBARA TAYLOR, MICHE JONES and ROSEMARY GARD. 6. Cheerleader SHARILL HANNS stirs the crowd with a new cheer. 7. The SONG GIRLS were among the liveliest pepsters; they include LAURIE STEARNS, KIMMI BOATMAN, HEATHER SMALLEY, ANGIE MILLER, MARIE KENNEDY and JULIE ROOT. 8. JERAMIE FAWSON gives an awesome performance for the homecoming rally. 9. Jester THERESA L'HEUREUX shows off the pixie style that made her a crowd pleaser. 10. Certainly one of the most active pep grups was the FLAG GIRLS. For 1985, they are: DEBBIE WEBBER, DIANE YOUNGSMA, LAURA MCDONALD, CHERYL COBB, ROBYN LANE and JERAMIE FAWSON.

Vocal Music

Heavenly sounds floated through the auditorium as the vocal groups raised their voices in unison. Beginning with the fall concert in November, the Second Chapter Singers, Concert Choir and the Cecilian Singers provided Lancers with consistently fine musical renditions of traditional and modern songs. Under the fine direction of Marc Clemens, these young musicians practiced untold hours to perfect the performances that appeared almost effortless when viewed by the public. They brought Christmas joy to many residents by parading and caroling in the Lakewood Mall, Shoreline Village and the Lakewood Country Club. This year proved to be one of the best ever for the LHS singers.

1. KELLY LA FRANIER, CHERYL OSBORNE and MIKE STUHLGARG work together to harmonize. 2. MR. CLEMENS is full of inspiration. 3. MRS. ROSE BISHOP provides outstanding piano accompaniment. 4. SCOTT CARTER and SCOTT COFFEE concentrate on excellence. 5. HEATHER SMALLEY is the center of attention. 6. THE SECOND CHAPTER SINGERS. 7. ROBERT VALENCIA begins practice with a strong solo. 8. JULIE RIOS memorizes the melody. 9. THE CECILIAN SINGERS. 10. DEE ANNA BEENEY and TERESA LOPEZ listen quietly while awaiting their cue. 11. THE CONCERT CHOIR. 12. MICHELLE LANGSTON, DONNA JOHNSON and ANGELA ROETTGER were expert vocalists.

Bye-Bye

The story of "Bye, Bye Birdie" revolves around the life of a young music publisher named Albert Peterson who faces more than a few formidable problems. First, he wants to marry his secretary, Rosie; however, their union is being blocked by his domineering mother, Mae. Secondly, there is the fate of Conrad Birdie, a rock 'n' roll singer of immense popularity who is Albert's client and chief source of income. Birdie is to be drafted into the Army, and Albert's business as his song writer — publisher — manager faces curtain collapse. Rosie suggests that Albert write a special farewell song for Birdie that he can sing while giving one of his fans a last civilian kiss. Albert agrees and Rosie selects the name of the lucky teenager; she is fifteen years old Kim MacAfee of Sweet Apple, Ohio. Teenage life in Sweet Apple is typical of the early 1960s. Kim has just been "pinned" by a local boy named Hugo Peabody to whom she has professed her undying and eternal devotion. Still, she is thrilled to have been selected to receive the one last kiss of her rock idol, the one and only Conrad Birdie. Birdie's arrival sets off a great deal of excitement and more than a little turmoil. Hugo is jealous of the star and life in the MacAfee household, where Birdie, Albert and Rosie are staying is utterly disrupted. Rosie begins to feel overworked and neglected by Albert. Birdie decides to take off for a night on the town with Kim and the teenagers which prompts a massive search by Mr. MacAfee and the other Sweet Apple parents for their children. In the finale, Kim and Hugo are reunited, Birdie is packed off to the Army in disguise, and Albert decides to give up the music business and take Rosie to the West where he plans to teach English.

1. MRS. PETERSON separates ALBERT and ROSIE. 2. The teenagers of Sweet Apple are in ecstasy over Birdie's impending arrival. 3. Birdie knocks 'em dead in Sweet Apple, Ohio. 4. KIM spreads the word during the "telephone hour." 5. The cast of "Bye, Bye Birdie." 6. The boys razz HUGO about going steady. 7. "An English Teacher" — ROSIE dreams of marriage to ALBERT. 8. Birdie is about ready to fly off the handle; he's tired of being a teenage idol. 9. ALBERT ponders the vicissitudes of the music business. 10. THE PETERSON family is tied in knots by the arrival of CONRAD BIRDIE.

DRACULA!

The era was 1890s, Transylvania was the place, and the Lakewood drama department provided the cast for the all-school play, "Dracula." Jonathan Harker, a London real estate agent, visits Castle Dracula to finalize the Count's purchase of an English manor house. The secret reason for the Count's change of location is his desire to victimize Lucy Wenstrom and Mina Harker. During the business meeting at the Castle, Jonathan is drugged to sleep during the day and only discovers the terrible truth about the Count's avocation when he cuts himself shaving. Dracula, and his vampire girls, Lisa and Monica, are ultimately successful in their desire for Jonathan Harker's blood. Eric Bailey as Dracula and the entire cast, especially Emily Brubaker, Scott Coffee and Laura Roberts, gave outstanding performances under Mrs. McMenamin's direction.

1. The peasants hover around the coachman. 2. MINA returns to haunt HARKER. 3. Count Dracula's evil mind is at work. 4. VAN HELSING is deep in thought. 5. DRACULA and HARKER toast the signing of the real estate deal. 6. MINA attempts to convince MRS. WENSTROM that LUCY is ill. 7. GRETCHEN does her best to persuade JONATHAN HARKER that the Count is a vampire. 8. ARTHUR is concerned about LUCY. 9. MRS. WENSTROM, HATI and GREKA are puzzled. 10. MONICA and LISA look up to their master.

Cabinet

If one were to take a behind-the-scenes look at the members of this year's cabinet, he would find one of the most involved groups on the LHS campus. Led by the indomitable activities director, Dennis Lyman, the student council made certain that even the most minute detail was taken care of in order to make each event a success. From the awesome "Aloha Days" and homecoming week to the final dance at the senior prom, the cabinet members were involved in making certain everything worked. Much planning was needed for noon rallys, dances and especially the winter formal. The spectacular success of many of the year's events was directly attributable to the cabinet.

1. Activities Specialist DENNIS LYMAN was the most active man on the LHS campus. 2. The Fall cabinet members included many playful participants. 3. JANICE RAINER was the Fall All Student Body President. 4. JENNIFER DJIE was the Fall All Student Body Vice President. 5. The Fall Student Body Cabinet. 6. MARIO BRESNAHAN was the Spring All Student Body President. 7. HOLLY ROOP was the Spring All Student Body Vice President. 8. The Cabinet displays its fond affection for MR. LYMAN. 9. Winter Formal

Fancy dancing . . . upbeat music . . . soft lights . . . and plenty of good times were the ingredients that were blended together to make the winter formal an outstanding success. The scene of this year's gala was the elegant Long Beach Convention Center. Beginning at 8:30, many early arrivals danced to the rock beats provided by a local disc jockey. Later in the evening the "Singles" began their outstanding performance of popular hit songs of the '80s. The guiding light behind the scenes was the student council. From the formal limousines that whisked the couples off to formal dinners, to the formal dress and fancy footwork displayed by all, the winter formal certainly lived up to its billing of "Winter Dreams."

1. TODD HEISS, JULIE DJIE, NINA ATKINS and BRIAN MILES take a break from the crowded dance floor. 2. Smiles show that MIKE GEIER, JERAMIE FAWSON, ROBYN LANE and STEVE NEWTON are having a good time. 3. ERIC SMITH is followed by a line of people anxious to sign the guest book. 4. KEVIN HAGGERTY and SHAUNA REYNOLDS take a moment to relax. 5. A group of sophomores pose for the photographer. 6. RON PADGETT and PATTY CARVALHO had a wonderful time. 7. BRAD SMITH feels the music. 8. MARNIE AMBERCOMBIE and VIC MAGPOC enjoy the refreshments. 9. The "Singles" music made everyone want to be couples. 10. DEREK RAISOR looks for his program. 11. NJ/ROTC

No organization showed as much pride as did the cadets enrolled in NJ/ROTC. Their esprit de corps was evident in their demeanor, their impeccable uniforms, their devotion to duty and their selfless dedication to the school. Naval Captain George Thompson assumed the helm at the beginning of the year; he and ETCM Borchardt were a formidable team. They continued to strive for excellence while implementing new methods of achieving it. Color day was changed to Thursday to allow more time in the classroom, and a girls' drill team was begun. Their efforts paid big dividends. The city's only silent precision team entered numerous competitions and garnered many awards. In both competition and the classroom, the cadets were filled with pride!

1. The NJ/ROTC staff welcomes: CAPTAIN THOMPSON. 2. The Cadet Staff — Row One: J. BORZA, J. LEE, J. TOPASNA, D. PALZER, M. STEDHAM. Row Two: ETCM BORCHARDT, J. DUENAS, B. STRINGER, R. HEURING, C. LANCE

Clear presentation of the facts . . . responsibility to readership . . . service to the school . . . personal integrity . . . and having a great time: these were the components that were blended each month with printer's ink to produce the Lakewood LANCE. New demands on students' schedules made it necessary to combine the advanced and beginning journalism classes. At first, the class of fifty students seemed awkward; however, after the first few weeks a routine was established and the LANCE staff continued its quest for journalistic excellence. Advisor Richard Garretson supervised Editor-in-Chief Sharill Hanns' staff, including page editors Marilou Duque, Holly Roop, Jean Bulicz and Heidi Riedman. With their combined expertise, the staff published some of the best issues ever!

1. MR. GARRETSON and Editor-in-Chief SHARILL HANNS discuss a paste-up before press time. 2. Thanks to photographers such as MIKE KELLY, RICK MEDINA, CARLA RODRIQUEZ and cartoonist LISA SWANSBROUGH, the LANCE was filled with exciting pictures and humorous cartoons. 3. MR. HOWEY enlightens KAYLEEN SMITH on the use of the Varitype. 4. SHARILL HANNS proudly discusses a finished issue with her ace reporters. 5. The ADVANCED JOURNALISM class was not serious every minute of the day. 6. SHARILL HANNS and her page editors, MARILOU DUQUE, HEIDI RIEDMAN, JEAN BULICZ and HOLLY ROOP get final instructions from MR. HOWEY before the first proofs are run. 7. CARLA RODRIQUEZ checks out her photographs. 8. MR. GARRETSON discusses a future story idea with HOLLY ROOP. 9. Sports editor HEIDI RIEDMAN looks over reporter CHRISSY STRONG'S story.

Citadel

An especially industrious group compiled the 1985 Citadel. These student leaders were involved in making certain pictures were taken, layouts were drawn, schedules were met, copy was written and that the best possible effort was invested in each page of the yearbook. The class was broken into five sections, led by editors Christine Blachowicz, Cindy Mathewson, Matt Paul, Sandra Payton and Kyle Reed. In addition to the expert guidance given by the editors, each section had a leader. Heidi Riedman's diligence was instrumental in getting the academic section in shape. In the sports section, Tim Robinett and Mike Stroh led a group of free spirits. The student life area was ably supervised by Janice Rainer. Each of the thirty-five staff members was instrumental in the production and distribution of the Citadel.

1. The Citadel staff gathers for a group portrait. 2. JAMIE BARCUS is deep in thought concerning a student life layout. 3. TRICIA WALKER gives cropping lessons to COLLEEN TIERNEY, JEFF EVERS, LISA COLLISON and TIM MAULDING. 4. MARIO BRESNAHAN'S layout is revised by sports editor MIKE STROH. 5. TIM MAULDING and his Technicropper were the best of friends. 6. RICK MAINGOT, ERIC RUMMEL and RICK MEDINA were in awe of the gifts they received for Christmas. 7. TIM NEBERGALL and RALPH MAHAFFEY discuss the latest chewing techniques. 8. Everyone pays particular attention to ERIC RUMMEL'S instructions. 9. The Citadel editors are CINDY MATHEWSON, MATT PAUL, SANDRA PAYTON, KYLE REED and CHRISTINE BLACHOWICZ. 10. The student life section was always hard at work. 11. Stage Crew

Under the watchful eyes of Mr. Mike Stobbe and Mr. Curtis Gathe, the members of the Lakewood High School stage crew devoted hundreds of hours of their time to insure the success of many campus events. Every rally had vast preparations; homecoming was among the greatest challenges with its many booths, as well as the building of the throne for the queen and her court. Especially rewarding was the work done on the play and the musical, because these events brought out the best in the stage crew. The final touch added by this fine group was the spectacular setting they provided for the LHS graduation. Although the members of the stage crew worked behind the scenes and often went unthanked and unnoticed, they were one of the most important and active groups on the campus.

1. BEN ENCINEAS supervises the set-up for the fall sports spectacular. 2. SKEAD PATTON concentrates to get the perfect lighting combination. 3. EDDIE KUDER and MICHELLE CINTRON work on assembling the lighting equipment for "Dracula." 4. MR. STOBBE shows ERIC KUDER how to get the job done. 5. KEVIN LACOSTE, SKEAD PATTON, JOHN SANCHEZ, RICHARD SIMPSON and RON LENARTH were important members of the stage crew. 6. Checking to see that all of the materials were in order was an important task for MR. STOBBE and MR. GATHE. 7. The stage crew tests the strength of a new ladder. 8. "I wonder why that guy is taking our picture?" 9. EDDIE KUDER and KEVIN LACOSTE make sure they have the perfect setting. 10. The 1985 Stage Crew.

FOOTBALL

From the Milk Bowl opener to the last league game against Wilson, Lakewood's varsity football squad had a trying season. Under the direction of new head coach Gene Melvin, the Lancers wound up their season 1-4 pre-league and 0-5 in league competition. Despite the fact that the Big Red Machine wasn't dominant in the Moore League, they never gave up hope. Much of the team's morale was held high by Captains Steve VanMaanen, Mike Hansard and Cory Thurber. The crucial aspect of momentum swung towards the Lancers often, but capitalizing on the advantage became a difficult chore. The gridders' defense was led by defensive backs Steve VanMaanen and Darren Wood as Mark Magdeleno, Brian Kane, Chuck Walty put the pressure on opposing quarterbacks. Offensively, Rick Wildt quarterbacked the team to many long gains as Mike Romero and Tony Zabala pulled down numerous receptions. The Lancers sprinted, tackled and sacked as best they could throughout the season.

1. BILL CURCI and BRIAN KANE set up a screen for STEVE VAN MAANEN. 2. TONY ZABALA streaks towards the end zone. 3. TIM NEBERGALL puts one through the uprights. 4. The Varsity Football Squad. 5. Scrambling to his right, RICK WILDT sets up for a pass. 6. MIKE HANSARD keeps out a Poly defender. 7. Looking for a big gain, DARREN WOOD turns the corner. 8. Lakewood's defensive line digs in against Jordan. 9. JOSEPH KEYS shakes off a pesky Compton player.

JV/SOPH FOOTBALL

In 1984 the junior varsity and scphomore football squads both tore up their respective divisions, emerging with 5-0 records. The new kids on the block were Coaches Rose, Wigod and Bishop. Heading the JV squad were captains Butch Larson and John Mario. Perhaps the team's outstanding feature was its defensive line, giving up a mere 28 points for the entire season. Nothing could stop the Lancer's sophomore football squad. As Coaches Tom Tereschuk, Chris Bolt and Eugene Hockerson conducted their business on the sidelines, team captains Steve Caruthers, Cuatemoc Rivera and Monte Harrington did their best to take care of business on the field. Hundreds of hours of practice paid handsome dividends for both the JV and sophomore squads, both Moore League Champions!

1. DEREK RASIOR finds the hole for the first down. 2. Running back DUANE COOPER evades a tackle. 3. KEVIN HAGGERTY searches for an open receiver. 4. BOYS' SOCCER/CIF CHAMPIONS

In its third year as a varsity sport, soccer flourished at LHS. Led by Captain Jim Cleary, the All-CIF Defender of the Year, and such excellent players as Joel Alamo, Jose Hernandez, Jeff Evers and Gilbert Pamanes, the team placed second in league and advanced to the CIF. In very close matches the Lancers gained victories over tough opponents from Cypress, Dana Hills and Crespi. They earned the right to face San Gabriel in the final 3-A CIF match. The crowd watched as Lakewood picked apart San Gabriel's defense and scored a 2-1 victory to become CIF champions! The excessive zeal and great talents of both Coach Flynn and his athletes were instrumental in the team's over-all record of 20-3-5.

1. JOSE HERNANDEZ leads an attack on the opponent's goal. 2. BEN ASSEFA applies some pressure. 3. GILBERT PAMANES races to intercept the ball. 4. JOEL ALAMO shows extra style in his ball control. 5. GIRLS' SOCCER

Dribbling ... trapping ... kicking ... and heading were familiar terms to the members of the girls' soccer teams. Pre-season play against such stalwart opponents as Palos Verdes, North Torrance and Tustin warmed up the lady Lancers for league competition. An overall record of 4-4 was good enough to place the team in CIF competition; however, always tough Camarillo dashed the team's hopes. Excellent play from Cindy and Steffie Mathewson, Patty Carvalho and Leslie Mollin was a key part of the team's success. Meanwhile, the JVs were compiling an enviable record of their own. Yvette Esparza, Shelly King and Cathy Johnston led the group to the Moore League crown.

1. SUE MILLS really packs a wallop. 2. LISA HALL outpaces a Poly opponent. 3. STEFFIE MATHEWSON attempts to sort out the traffic jam. 4. CECILIA ARROYO moves the ball downfield. 5. BASKETBALL

Although they showed strength in pre-season play, the varsity basketball team found the competition in the Moore League to be much tougher. The Lancers encountered five of the top ten CIF teams in their opening games, and then faced always-tough Compton and Poly as league openers. With an overall 5-15 record, and a league showing of 3-7, the true talents of the team did not peak until the close of the season. In their final quest to add some wins to the record book, the Lancers handily dispatched arch-rivals Wilson and Millikan. Led by all-league selections Andy Darst, Eric Sims and Dwayne Cooper, the team also boasted of the talents of Scott Clydesdale, Todd Link and Pat Benko.

1. ANDY DARST powers in for two points. 2. Using his strength to clear the way, JIM DONELSON hits the offensive board. 3. ERIC SIMS clears a Poly defender for two points. 4. JV/SOPH BASKETBALL

New highs and a few low points were reached by the members of the junior varsity basketball team. After successful showings in several early season tournaments, Moore League competition proved to be somewhat tougher for the Lancers. The overall 3-7 record failed to account for the number of very close games in which the team was involved. They always gave their best effort, as proved by their miraculous comeback from an 18 point deficit to beat Compton. The JVs were led by Victor Magpoc, Andre Silas and Ronald Brown. The sophomore squad, meanwhile, also found some tough competition during their season, ending with a 3-7 league and 11-12 overall record. Matt Ward and Jim Hills kept the sophs alert.

1. BILL LIND dishes out an assist. 2. Looking for an opening, RONALD BROWN makes his way to the basket. 3. ANDRE SILAS has the perfect jumper. 4. The Junior Varsity Basketball Team. 5. GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' varsity basketball team was loaded with talent and plagued with injuries. A pre-season injury to star center Russia Madden, as well as the critical loss of Lisa Arndt, were severe blows to the team. However, Cynthia Robinson stepped in to lead the team in scoring, while Anne Witkowski was in charge of the defensive attack. Although the Moore League statistics were a very disappointing 1-9, strong performances were registered by outstanding players such as Nicole Leonard and Julie Merys. A newcomer to Lakewood, Coach Rob Wigod, led the JVs to a 6-4 Moore League record. Elizabeth Bolla, Michelle Silvey, Leslie Beler and Thessia Benson were key players for the JVs.

1. ANNE WITKOWSKI becomes airborn. 2. RUSSIA MADDEN shoots over the Compton defenders. 3. COURTNEY HUGHES sets a timely screen for CYNTHIA ROBINSON. 4. JULIE MERYS searches for an open player. 5. WATER POLO

The Moore League standings do not accurately reflect the true talents of the varsity water polo team. It began the season with enthusiasm and high expectations. The team was well on its way with impressive victories over Compton and Jordan. However, misfortune struck the varsity at the Poly match; after a hard fought game, the Lancers succumbed by just one goal. In another close match the Lancers also lost by one goal to the Millikan Rams. The varsity team boasted many excellent players. Powerful Chris Shean dominated the hole position, while tactful Tim Robinett occupied the point. Kerry Leidich and blazing Bill Condit took the driver positions as left-hander Dan Mansir mastered the right wing. Wayne Gidley, Scott Hachiya, Scott Wisdom, Scott Coffee and John Trauger rounded out Coach Nicholson's 1984 squad.

JV/SOPH POLO

The junior varsity water polo team turned in some outstanding performances both in pre-league and league competition. A unique feature of the JV team was the inclusion of three female players who did a tremendous job. Very agressive play and wide-ranging talent enabled the JVs to end the season with a 7-4 overall record. Scott Ash, Kelly Miller and Rick Justice were instrumental in the team's success. The sophomore water polo team was a multi-talented one. The teamwork and dedication that they displayed were truly remarkable. Excellent play was turned in by Eric Smith, Todd Dietrich, Todd Hill and Eric Hill. Ending the season with a 10-7 record, they were extremely proud of their victories over Poly, Jordan, Millikan and Compton.

SWIMMING

More potential was possessed by the boys' swim teams than has been found in many years. The varsity, led by Bill Condit, Chris Shean, Kerry Leidich and Pat Fitzpatrick was filled with enthusiasm and talent. Great depth was also found in the sophomore squad; Eric Smith, Tom Hill, Eric Hill and Todd Heiss could all be counted on to place in each meet. The girls' teams were strong contenders to repeat their league-winning ways. The well-rounded squad included such luminaries as Cristina Rizzi, Cindy Mathewson, Jennifer Djie and Christine Blachowicz. Meanwhile, the JVs were also a sound team. Their practice, dedication and teamwork could be counted on to retain the quality of Lakewood's swim teams.

WRESTLING

The varsity wrestling team's season was marked by several successes. Although the Moore League record was 2-3, individual achievements highlighted the year. Super-grapplers Carlos Rangel and Hugo Fajardo both took first places in their weight classes. Jeff Manis and Cuauhtemac Rivera placed second and third. The junior varsity also posted a 2-3 league record, with victories against always-tough Poly and Compton. Outstanding wrestlers for the JV team included Curtis Preuss, Mike Hinchee and Matt Peavy. Coaches Bryant and Jurgensen can be proud of the fine efforts of their wrestlers.

1. A quick pin is CARLOS RANGEL'S objective. 2. Dancing is the farthest thing from CHUCK COOPER'S mind as he throws his opponent. 3. Little strain is noticeable as DOUG PALMER pins his adversary. 4. BASEBALL

Baseball . . . apple pie . . . and Lakewood High — nothing could top this combination! While some neighboring schools felt baseball was too "slow" to register much attention, the Lancers showed them how to put excitement into the game. Expert pitching, long a Lancer trait, continued to inspire awe in the fans with the exceptional performances of senior ace Chris Arnold and sophomore standout Mike McNary. Infielders and outfielders made great plays, and the exploding bats Brian Grebeck, Tim Robinett, Scott Ewart and Glenn Davis added the necessary points to the final tally. Coach O'Neil's guidance was the key in another attempt to capture the Moore League crown.

JV BASEBALL

Junior varsity baseball teams have been the traditional source of players who move on to become varsity stars. However, for those Lancers who carefully followed the JV season, excellent play could be found in every game. An especially strong pitching staff was the hallmark of this year's sqaud. Tim Miltenberger, in his first outing as a baseball coach, took the helm and made certain that each player learned the fundamentals of the sport. He also was instrumental in polishing the performances of such sophomore standouts as Mike Lombardi, Jordan Pilchman and Bob Cratty. Once again, the JVs planned to dominate play in the Moore League.

1. Another hit is registered by the JVs in a preseason match against Marina. 2. ED CRIBBS' strong delivery was a crucial factor in many of the team's victories. 3. CHAD LE FEBVER makes an important tag at second base. 4. MIKE LOMBARDI dives back to second just in time to avoid the out. 5. The Junior Varsity Baseball Team. 6. SOFTBALL

The softball teams were filled with talent, experience and pride. No other teams at Lakewood had as much spirit or drive; winning was not an individual thing, it was a team effort. The esprit de corps of the varsity squad was due largely to the leadership of Coach Leslie Chandler. The varsity, led by three-year pitcher Kay Hadley and Captain Barbara Taylor, compiled an enviable 3-1 preseason record. The quality of their play indicated that they would once again be league contenders. The JVs were ignited by the talent and enthusiasm of standouts Dawn King and Julie Whetstone. Coach Gilpin counted on the team to be a real threat in league play.

1. MARISSA McCORMICK waits for the pitch. 2. "Has anyone seen my contact lens?" 3. BARBARA TAYLOR heaves an awesome throw to third. 4. One of the best pitchers in the league is KAY HADLEY. 5. TRACK

The Lakewood track teams exploded with energy as they opened the season by trouncing a tough squad from Arcadia in their debut. In his final coaching season, veteran Bill Meyer attempted to assemble one of the better track squads in the school's history. Taking his advice were such track and field standouts as sprinter Ted Cabalyan, high jumper Mike Romero, distance man Bill Lind, shot puter Mike Hansard and super long-jumper Marcus Hooks. On the distaff side, Coach Cape was surrounded by talent. Distance runner Jamie Barcus almost always led the pack, while long jumper Lazette Scott and outstanding sprinter Kimberley Lowe could always be counted on to finish in the top three places. The track and field athletes were the ones to watch in '85.

1. ERIC ASCHERI clears the qualifying height with ease. 2. No one came close to MARCUS HOOKS in the triple jump. 3. At the start of the mile run, FRANK VALLELUNGA and BILL LIND prepare to outdistance their Arcadia opponents. 4. The high jump was no obstacle for MIKE ROMERO. 5. PETE CHALLENGER finishes first once again. 6. The Boys' Varsity Track Team. 7. The Boys' JV Track Team. 8. LORRAINE SIAS, LISA VELARDE, DENISE RICHARDT and GAYLE LAKOWSKI hurdle past their opponents. 9. LAZETTE SCOTT gets her steps down. 10. JAMIE BARCUS leads the pack. 11. PATRICE WILLIAMS captures another first place. 12. The Girls' Track Team. 13. JULIE BURROUGHS is off to a fast start.

CROSS COUNTRY

Heading into the Moore League cross-country finals in a heated three team battle, the Lancers finished a respectable second place. The Lancers were led by junior sprinters Bill Lind and Frank Vallelunga, who placed first and second throughout the season. The depth of the varsity squad was found in seniors Ted Cablayan, Mario Bresnahan and Mike Hazlewood. The JV's showed true talent in such runners as Brian Pitts and Steve Traurig. The female harriers finished an impressive second place in the Moore League. Varsity standouts such as Jamie Barcus, Anna Mc-Comber and sophomore star, Glena Archer, were invaluable team members.

1. Although fatigued, CHRIS MEJIA always kept the lead. 2. BRIAN PITTS makes a dramatic finish. 3. TED CABLAYAN and FRANK VALLELUNGA show great form on the treacherous Mt. SAC course. 4. The Varsity Boys' Cross-Country Team. 5. BILL LIND shows the concentration needed to win. 6. The Junior Varsity Cross-Country Team. 7. ANNA Mc COMBER and ROBERTA MARICICH lead the pack. 8. GYMNASTICS

The traditional Lakewood gymansts are talented, poised, athletic and energetic; this year's teams lived up to those adjectives and added a few of their own. Long hours of strenuous practice used to refine each technique were required by Coach Allars in the hopes that each performance would reach a level of perfection. As one gymnast put it, "No one sweats the details like C.A.!" Super-talented ladies such as Theresa L'Heureux, Carmelita Moorehead and Nathalie Garcia led the senior division. Whether it was the floor exercise, the uneven parallel bars, the vault or the beam, each gymnast strove to do her best.

1. While JULIE EDWARDS jogs in place upside down, EILEEN HARGADEN pretends she's a goalpost. 2. THERESA L'HEUREUX, CARMELITA MOORHEAD and NATHALIE GARCIA strike a pose on the balance team. 3. JUDY EVITTS shines on the uneven parallel bars. 4. The Varsity Gymanstics Team. 5. Balancing precariously on the bars, HEATHER GOMEZ begins her routine. 6. LEE ANN McCOLLUM poses with teammates MELODY REECE, MICHELLE REECE, JILL STATTI and JULIE ANDERSON. 7. CARMELITA MOOREHAD flys through the air with the greatest of ease. 8. The JV Gymanstics Team. 9. DANCE

Every member of the dance classes was required to have talent, poise, concentration and co-ordination. Under the distinguished leadership of Janet Prowett and Leslie Chandler, the students not only learned a great deal, but also enjoyed themselves immensely. Creativity was the watchword for these groups as they practiced every type of dance from ballet to jazz to modern, as well as the latest aerobic movements. The highlight of the year was the presentation of the concert, "Dance Craze," by the advanced dance class. Each performer chose the music and choreographed her own number. Evident in each of the performances was a sense of balance and culture with an added dash of rythym.

1. These dancers perform "I Send A Message." 2. JULIE MARTIN and SHELLEY RICE do an outstanding jump. 3. The Advanced Dance Class. 4. Striking a unique pose are CHRIS BLANTON, TRACY OEDEKERK and CAROLYN LEYN. 5. The Beginning Dance Class. 6. SABRINA JONES and VANESSA BROWN perform "Jungle Beat." 7. VOLLEYBALL

Raging through pre-season competition, the varsity volleyball team stepped up to take first place in the always tough Millikan Tournament. As the Moore League play began, the Lancers could not quite keep up the pace they had set in pre-season games. The overall record of 8-7 does not indicate all of the talent the team possessed. Outstanding play by Barbara Taylor, Rosemary Gard, Paula Honeycutt and Marie Kennedy was noted by all of their fans. The junior varsity team had an exceptional season with the help of outstanding players such as Chrissie Strong and Bonnie Cooper. The Lancers JV's won every first-round game. They went on to manage a league tri-championship with an overall record of 8-2. The sophomores did even better; they were undefeated with a record of 5-0.

1. JEANETTE HOCKENBURY spikes another one past a stunned Poly defender. 2. PAULA HONEYCUTT exhibits perfect form. 3. COACH ALLARS explains her strategy for the game. 4. GOLF/BADMINTON

Badminton, among the most strategic sports played at Lakewood, consisted as much of finesse and intelligence as it did of sheer physical power. Battling the birdie were such standouts as Mary Morey and Rosie Romero on the singles side, and Debbie Riggs and Stacey Shanberg as the number one doubles duo. Coach Gonzales and her teams were a great combination and posed a real threat to their league opponents. Coach Gough and his erstwhile sidekick, Coach Dunphy, taught both the fundamentals and the fine points of the game of golf to such swingers as Matt Paul, Charlie Burrus and Brad Smith. Ralph Mahaffey came in handy as an extra for a foursome or a great guy to hold the flag.

1. PAT BENKO tees off in the crucial Wilson match. 2. A five iron was BRAD SMITH'S favorite fairway weapon. 3. CHARLIE BURRUS holes out on the 19th! 4. The Varsity Golf Team. 5. MATT PAUL makes his birdie putt. 6. The JV Golf Team. 7. STACEY SHANBERG sails one past a Bruin opponent. 8. DEBBIE RIGGS concentrates on her serve. 9. MONICA HSIEH prepares to charge the net. 10. ROSIE ROMERO catches a birdie in flight. 11. The number one player, MARY MOREY, is ready to crush another opponent. 12. The Varsity Badminton Team. 13. The JV Badminton Team.

TENNIS

Although they often went unnoticed, the tennis teams were composed of some of Lakewood's finest athletes. Coaches Krebs and Riley made sure the boys' teams were prepared for every match by perfecting backhands and serves. Among the outstanding players were Greg Siemons and Bill Price as singles, as well as doubles champs Ray Avila and Charlie Kang. Coach Gonzales and the girls' tennis team were co-champions of the Moore League. Number one ranked Cindy Mathewson, all-star Jennifer Djie and Moore League champ Kim Falk were named to the all-city team. The JVs finished a very good second in league, led by Rosie Romero, Debbie Riggs and Shelley King.

1. GREG SIEMONS is determined to serve an ace. 2. An excellent backhand is shown by DAVID McGOWAN. 3. TONY PARK and MARIO DUQUE were super doubles players. 4. The Boys' Varsity Tennis Team. 5. ACADEMICS

Donald Hopkins, Principal

In his first full year as LHS principal, Don Hopkins proved he had the requisite attributes to lead both the students and the staff to academic excellence. His strong sense of direction, willingness to listen, keen interest in everyone's welfare, friendly attitude and intellectual abilities were qualities that were instrumental in the successes he achieved for the school. Lakewood was one of two district high schools to compete in the statewide drive to improve scores on the California Assessment Program tests. Tardies were no longer a laughing matter as he implemented a program to have every student in his seat on time. The academic area was enhanced by Mr. Hopkins' emphasis on "quality time" in every classroom. School based financing caused a few problems in its first year, but all were handled smoothly at LHS. As the school year progressed, every Lancer was well aware of the high standards expected by Mr. Hopkins, and many strove to attain them.

1. MR. HOLZMAN'S shaggy dog story makes the principal grin. 2. "One-a-day, everyday!" was one of Mr. Hopkins' principles. 3. Surveying the ROTC ranks was one of the leader's tasks. 4. DEE DEE Mc LAREN and PAUL TAYLOR listen intently as Mr. Hopkins checks their graphic arts project. 5. SUSAN STEIN discovers the miracles of cell division. 6. The principal is impressed with SEAN GILLIES' word-processing skills. 7. Administrators/Counselors

Although administrative and counseling offices were among the busiest places at LHS, they were also the most organized. Such efficiency allowed the support staff to operate a large high school with an attitude of friendliness and warmth usually found only in much smaller schools. The open door policy of all staff members made a trip to the office an enjoyable one. Even the increase in enrollment did not decrease the services rendered by these dedicated professionals. Vice principal Robert Severns led the administrative team in its goals of implementing the new tardy and detention policies, as well as its overall supervision of the school. Head counselor Reuben Brasser spent endless hours with his staff making sure students were advised and programmed in the best possible fashion. Everyone at Lakewood High School was aware of the dedication and professionalism displayed by the administrative and counseling staffs.

1. DR. ERRATT'S sage advice is eagerly sought by seniors. 2. STEVE LAURICELLA'S excuse amuses MRS. BROWN. 3. MR. SEVERNS is amazed by MR. EISENBERGER'S explanation of how 3,519 social studies films were lost. 4. A friendly reminder from MRS. SANDERS was all that MIKE BROWN needed. 5. MR. BRASSER whisks his pen across another program change. 6. A warm smile and lots of help are two of the best reasons for seeing Mrs. Rigard. 7. SCOTT CARPENTER grins at MR. SULACK'S ASVAB results. 8. MR. GRAY'S keen sense of humor delights DEBBIE LUJAN. 9. "Come on! Look me straight in the eye and tell me you were sick!"

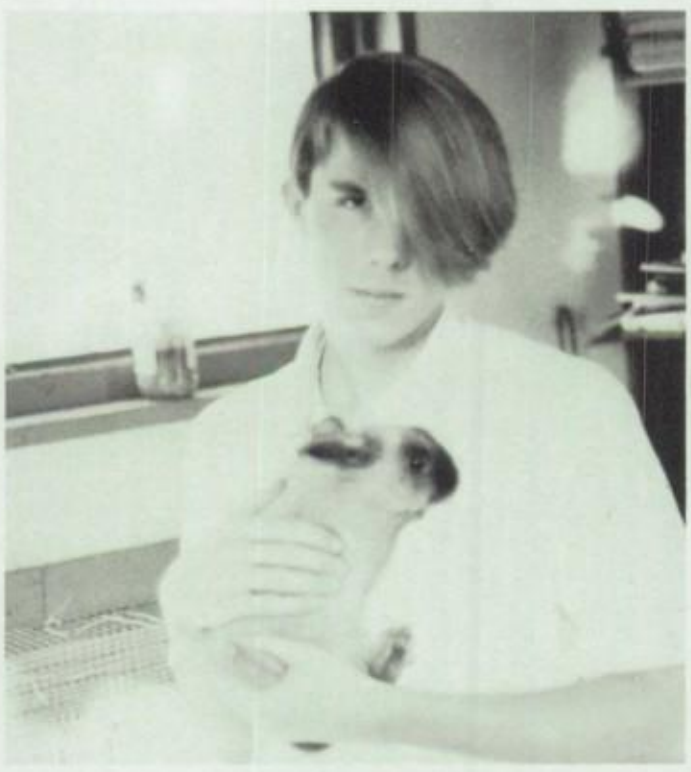
Regional Occupational Program

One of the most unusual and perhaps least known aspects of the Regional Occupational Program was its impact upon both the students and the community. Training took place in the "real-world" atmosphere which the schools are unable to duplicate. Ornamental horticulture, for example, was taught at the City of Long Beach tree farm and several local nurseries. Over seventy Long Beach and Lakewood area businesses participated in the program. They included such varied interests as the All-American Auto Body and Paint Shop, Atlantic Tropical Fish Company, Buffum's, the National Guard, the Hyatt Regency, Circle Motors, Lakewood Beauty College, Park Pantry, Memorial Hospital, Security Pacific Bank, the Holiday Inn and many more. The Long Beach business community was vitally interested in helping train students.



Mathematics

Lancers were offered courses in almost every division of mathematics. The classes ranged from career math to pre-calculus and computer programming. While some students refreshed their multiplication and addition skills, others labored long and hard to decipher sines, tangents and logarithms. An especially popular offering proved to be the computer mathematics classes; students learned the fine points of BASIC and its application to the world of math. Modern technology has necessitated the need for many more Lancers to be proficient in higher mathematics. Under the expert direction of department head Dave Arnold, the department helped students learn how to work with figures as a tool for their futures.

1. MRS. CAPE helps a student with a tricky word problem. 2. M & M's made GARRETT RHEBERG and MR. BURGER good friends in their career math class. 3. With the aid of his overhead projector, MR. SPENCER explains the fundamentals of graphing a line. 4. SHARON FLAHERTY amazes MR. SEYLER with her knowledge of the 90° angle. 5. LISE ELIASSEN and JOHN TRAUGER share their computer genius with MR. FLYNN. 6. MR. ARNOLD takes a spare moment during Algebra I to tell the class about the one that got away. 7. MR. MINER'S ability to quote the Pythagorean theorem kept his classes in stitches. 8. A stumped LINDA PORTA finds help in the form of one MR. LASHOWER. 9. MR. STONER carefully measures the degree of JAMIE RODGER'S bubble. 10. MR. HERRICK keeps a watchful eye on his class as they take a tough test. 11. Pointing out the correct method of factoring polynomials, MR. CRAMOND clears up RANDY HEURING'S homework troubles. 12. MRS. Science

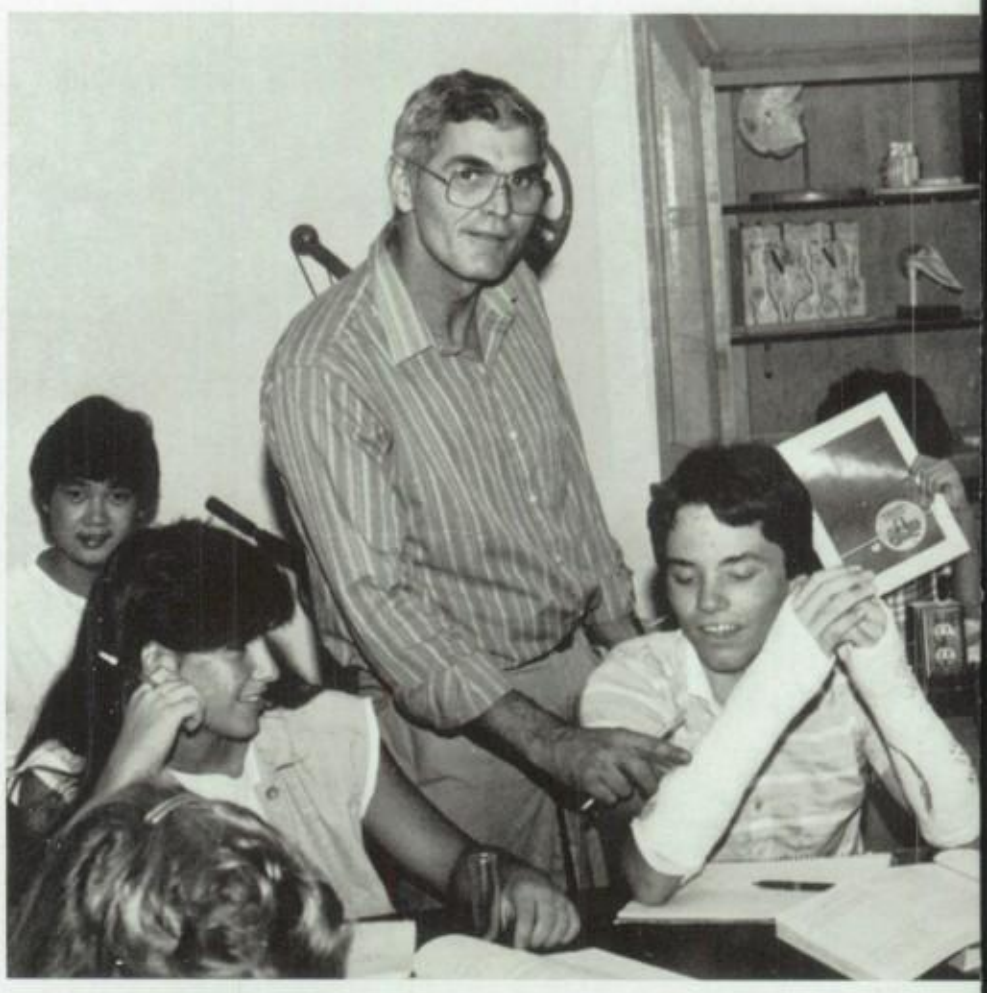
As scientists continued to uncover new worlds and to discover exciting new fields, the Lancers moved right along with them. With updated textbooks and information that teachers gained, students were able to keep up with the fast changing world. Background material was given in earth science, while more advanced information was learned in the popular biology classes. Students in anatomy and physiology classes were interested in the complex and detailed workings of the human body. Budding physicists could count on Mr. Shafer's expert explanations to keep them out of the dark on quarks. Chemistry classes were filled with eager students anxious to learn the periodic tables. Mr. Mellencamp's photographers excelled in their craft and shared their creative pictures with the school. Science classes helped widen students' knowledge of the universe they live in.



1. Double casts on CARL PERKINS' broken arms provide an example for MR. SAUNDERS. 2. MR. RILEY finally catches the punch line of ANTONE GILLARD'S joke. 3. TODD HUGHES and JULIE BAKER conduct a successful experiment with the help of MR. ROGERS. 4. CRAIG Mc DONALD attempts to convince MR. MELLENCAMP that he can pick up extra-terrestrial signals. 5. MR. SHAFER shoots holes in CRISTINA RIZZI'S answer in physics class. 6. Another test is given to an excited group of science students by MR. NICHOLOSON. 7. MR. LAMPSON takes time out to celebrate after giving an exciting lecture on Louis Pasteur. 8. SCOTT EWART convinces MISS GILPIN that he has the right answer. 9. MRS. General Studies/Special Ed

Among the most interesting and innovative class offerings at LHS were those found in the general studies department. Career guidance students became aware of the multitude of opportunities that awaited them after graduation. Drivers' education taught the rules of safe and skillful driving. Health education proved to be a very popular course. Students were told of the hazards to their body and how to prevent them. While the general studies program introduced sophomores to the realities of adult life, the special education department exerted itself to improve the skills of students with particular needs. The tailor-made program was particularly successful in bringing its students up to very high levels. Led by Ed Kelly, the department did an outstanding job of reaching its lofty goals.

1. MR. ROSE finds his first Lancer admirer in SANDY SHARES. 2. MR. WHITTINGTON prepares for some "big time" excuses from KEVIN THOMAS. 3. MR. MILTENBERGER proudly displays his detailed overlay concerning job placement. 4. MR. STROTHER expounds on the evils of smoking. 5. MR. SCOTT gives YOLANDA CARREON expert directions on the rules of the road. 6. MR. GOUGH is dumbfounded by the high scores on the latest driving test. 7. TERI MEAD listens to MR. KELLY'S explanation of the need for good written work. 8. MR. BRAUN is proud of MARLO SPINOSA'S improvement. 9. Speech consultant, MRS. TERRY MEYER, gives lots of help to many Lancers. 10. SCOTT ASH discovers the solution thanks to MR. Mc GRATH. 11. MR. HUNGERFORD could always be counted on for a smile.

Foreign Language/ESL

Learning a new language was challenging and frustrating, as well as being rewarding and fun. For most Lancers the foreign language was German, French, Latin or Spanish. Declination of nouns and conjugation of verbs took what seemed to be an inordinate amount of time; however, being able to communicate with the foreign exchange student or telling your language lab partner a secret, made all of the hard work worthwhile. Students enrolled in the English as a second language program were given a more difficult task. Instead of using their "new" language one hour a day, they spoke English throughout their schedule. Whether it was English or another language, a great deal of practice, quizzing, drilling and patience from the teachers in both departments allowed many Lancers to become bi-lingual.

1. RICK WILDT and SEAN WOODWARD get a kick out of MR. SMALL'S "ol sombrero" joke! 2. WAYNE MOORE pleads with FRAU STANKOV to translate the passage one more time. 3. MRS. Le FEVER was an expert at conjugation. 4. MICKEY CAGE and MR. GARZA chuckle over a difficult noun. 5. EMILY BRUBAKER and LARRY SHERMAN discover the real reason MR. YOUNG loves Rosarita. 6. MARIA MOORE and MRS. SLAGLEY think HERIBERTO MEZA'S pronunciation is perfect. 7. MR. De CORDES points to the correct verb for PABLO RUIZ and SAM BOLANOS. 8. Taking a break in her hectic schedule, MRS. POWERS looks over SANG CHHEAN'S work. 9. The "spark plug" of the ESL department, MRS. SWAYZE, tells about her summer travels through Europe.

English

As high school graduation and college entrance requirements became more difficult, Lancers were grateful for the superb quality of the Lakéwood High School English department. Students could select from a wide variety of courses, including four literature courses and numerous electives. The literature courses focused on traditional American and British literature, but also sparked the imagination with literature of the unknown and contemporary literature. Electives included film analysis, creative writing, drama and journalism. The school-wide program to enhance writing in every discipline was carried forth with vigor. The fact that ninety-two percent of the student body was enrolled in three years of English was testimony to the value and popularity of the department.

1. Fun English classes, such as MRS. OBER'S, kept IBI DIAAB'S attention. 2. MRS. BLACK is willing to add the personal touch to her teaching. 3. MRS. HUMMER keeps her class alert during a stimulating discussion on the Great Awakening. 4. TOM MOORE hides his laughter as MISS ROBEY checks WADE CORLEY'S composition. 5. Students in MRS. KEPHART'S classes work hard and enjoy it. 6. MRS. KROLL is amused by the latest SOPHOMORE WRITES entry. 7. It's back to the dictionary for MR. OLIVER. 8. JOSIE JAIMES shows MR. Library/Media Center

The quiet surroundings found in the library made it an ideal place to catch up on homework assignments or to research a term paper. There was much more to the library than an ample supply of reading material; it was also the resource center for various media devices. Everything from audio tapes of the classics to videotapes of a presidential inauguration was available for the students' perusal. Head librarian Carole Cooke took great interest in the needs of all of Lakewood's scholars; she spent numerous extra hours to assure that the library was a smooth running institution. Meanwhile, the media center proved to be a popular place to learn about almost every subject because of the helpfulness of Mrs. Guinn. Those Lancers who took advantage of the resources in the library/media center were among the best informed students on the campus.

1. MR. NORTHEN checks the grades for LAURA ROBERTS and CHIP WATSON. 2. MRS. HILBURN is proud of the progress of her tenth grade English class. 3. MRS. COBB gets a kick out of the answers she receives during a vocabulary exercise. 4. KIM LOPEZ is obviously intimidated by a stern MR. GENISAUSKI. 5. MRS. Mc MENAMIM listens to a fine oral presentation. 6. ANGIE MAYFIELD tries her luck at operating the VCR. 7. JIM CLEARY attempts to tune-in Mars. 8. BRAD ERLANSON helps MRS. COOKE collect overdue-books. 9. JENNIFER and CABBAGE PATCH LEE turn to Sesame Street. 10. MRS. COOKE and her aids enjoy some library humor.

Social Studies

The development of human relations, both past and present, was the focus of students in the social studies department. To gain a better understanding of the pitfalls and potential of the future, students delved into the complex worlds of history, government, sociology and geography. While juniors concentrated on the growth and developement of the United State, seniors were eagerly learning the intricacies of the American political system. Many fortunate Lancers were able to crowd into such popular elective offerings as Mr. Dunphy's criminal law course or Mr. Holzman's sociology class. No matter what course was taken, a Lancer was sure to be fascinated by the subjects in the social studies area.

1. ROSEMARY GARD and JIM BURKS are enthralled with MR. HOLZMAN'S explanation of mores. 2. MR. EISENBERGER admonishes DANA HOOTEN and MIKE GALVAN on the importance of studying history. 3. STEVE NEWTON knows he can count on MR. DUNPHY for a quick explanation of Voltaire's philosophy. 4. MR. MEDNICK amuses BRIAN GAIN and MARILOU DUQUE with his antecdote about President Garfield. 5. MR. WIGOD points out the answer. 6. LINDA JONES is enraptured by MR. SPARKMAN'S lecture. 7. LISA D'AMORE knows MR. GARRETSON is serious! 8. MR. NEELY is an expert on the voyages of discovery. 9. MR. DANIELS was the "feature attraction" of Room 208!

Home Ec/Art/Music

Co-educational offerings in basic living skills and home economics proved to be among the most popular at Lakewood High School. Delicious concoctions made taking foods and nutrition class a special pleasure. Students in parent and child class learned the fine points of successfully raising a family. The effective living class presented a mock wedding ceremony which was one of the high points of the year. Budding artists were given encouragement by the teachers in the art department. While art was pleasing to the eye, the songs presented by the music department were equally pleasing to the ear. From the exciting Christmas program to the last note of the musical, excellent music was performed by the vocal and instrumental departments.

1. MRS. PATTERSON informs JULIE CURL about a special guest. 2. Experts were frequent visitors to parent and child class. 3. CLARENCE SHAVER officiates at the wedding of LISA SELGA and GARY LARRAGOITIV. 4. The importance of proper measuring is stressed by MISS FRANK. 5. The happy couple approaches its waiting limo. 6. MR. CLEMENS stirs excitement among the singers. 7. SUSAN MILLS gets some quick advice from MR. SCHOONOVER. 8. MRS. BRIGGS compliments ELVIA PONCE on her project. 9. GIBERTO PANAMES is enthusiastic about his teacher's freehand drawing. 10. MR. HANNAN takes a break from orchestra rehearsel.

Business Education

With business being the most declared college major, many Lancers decided to get ahead in the world of work by taking one of the many courses offered in the LHS business department. Business math, accounting, shorthand and typing made students aware of the methods used in many of America's offices. Simulated office and legal/medical typing classes developed concrete and marketable skills. One of the most popular of these applied courses was Project INvest; this innovative program allowed Lancers to learn about the field of insurance. The business department also boasted the latest equipment in word processing. The business classes and teachers were instrumental in making many of today's Lancers tomorrow's leaders.

1. MRS. BUTTS rescues CHRIS BAUSMAN'S fingers from the typewriter. 2. A stunned MR. MELVIN reads the latest business math test scores. 3. MRS. HARVEY is amused by MILLIE CAMPBELL'S interpretation of "home row." 4. MRS. GRACE demonstrates how to balance a checkbook. 5. LETICIA CASTRO listens intently as MR. FOERSTER inquires about her resumé. 6. MRS. DAVIS shows CATALINA VIERA the latest finger warm-ups in typing class. 7. Office INvest was exciting for every Lancer who took the class.

Industrial Arts

If a Lancer desired to learn a skill which he could put to good use in the world of work after graduation, he enrolled in one of the classes taught by the experts in the industrial arts department. The techniques that were taught enabled many students to acquire entry-level jobs in the industrial field. For those who were interested in hands-on learning, the seven hundred building was the place to be. One of the department's strongest programs was the field of electricity; Mr. Patten's "early birds" began their two hour stint at 7:10 a.m. in their quest for understanding. Building a robot was one of the highlights of the year. Other excellent classes included drafting, metals, auto shop and graphic arts. This was among the most harmonious and best organized departments at the school.

1. MR. HAMILTON enlightens KEVIN BEVINUE and ERIC HINES on the purpose of a piston. 2. RICK SWENSON and SAM BRISCOE sit in awe as MR. HOWEY explains safety rules in graphic arts. 3. MR. STOBBE'S metals class was a challenge for MARTIN GUILLEN. 4. It wasn't easy for MR. KREBS to show EDDIE CAILIES how to hold a pencil. 5. BILL CONDIT receives MR. NORTH'S expert advice on the use of a router. 6. "ZAPP it to me, Teacher Mike!" 7. MR. PATTEN is shocked by BEN ENCENIAS' transformer project. 8. A complicated circuit problem keeps LA THONG busy.

Physical Education

What better way could a student burn off extra energy than by enrolling in the exciting classes in the physical education department. Running laps, perfecting push-ups and flattening tummies were only a small part of the regimen. Weight lifting, power volleyball, swimming, tennis or badminton proved popular alternatives to the rigors of regular phys ed classes. As the world became more aware of the need not only to have healthy bodies but the have health maintenance throughout life, Lancers were taught sports that could be carried on after high school graduation. Many P.E. buffs were able to make very respectable showings on the Presidential Fitness Test of strength, stamina and agility. Other students were content to know that their really "fun" class of the day was the one they took in physical education.

1. CHRIS SPARKS and HIEU CHIEN concentrate to get the full impact of MRS. CHANDLER'S tennis lesson. 2. MS. ALLARS attempts to teach the Lancers the fine art of the volleyball set. 3. COACH GONZALES gives instructions on the proper fielding techniques. 4. COACH MEYER and DEBBIE TILLMAN admire CATHY SHERRLER'S dancing ability. 5. COACH SWEENEY supervises as his general phys ed class sweats it out on the weight-lifting machines. 6. COACH ARBOGAST lectures on the importance of a healthy diet and lots of exercise. 7. KIM JENISON and STACY RICHARDS follow MRS. PROWETT'S lead. 8. Lack of sleep gets the best of COACH O'NEIL as he thumbs through his roll book.

Classified Staff

The Lancer classified staff provided the support and wisdom that kept the campus running smoothly. "Where do I return a lost book?" "How can I sign up for drivers' training?" "Will you send my transcripts to Oxford University in time for the Fall term?" The close-knit cadre of professionals known as the classified staff took care of many of the problems faced by Lancers, and did so with a sense of duty and an attitude of friendliness. From gathering, organizing, and filing to picking-up, mowing and mending, the staff was a key ingredient in both the successful running of the school and in helping students to accomplish their goals.

The Events Of 1985

1. The Dolphins' new quarterback, DAN MARINO, was the talk of the country as he displayed record-breaking talent throughout the N.F.L. season. 2. Re-elected to the presidency with 525 of 538 electoral votes, RONALD REAGAN gives a "thumbs-up" signifying what he hopes will be a prosperous "four more years!" 3. WILLIAM SCHROEDER, the most successful recipient of an artificial heart, indulges in what he calls the "Colorado cure." 4. The world was shocked as a leak at the Bhophal, India pesticide plant operated by UNION CARBIDE killed and injured thousands of people. 5. Playing a Detroit cop in Beverly Hills brought EDDIE MURPHY a box-office smash as the picture reached the top of the charts. 6. Many of England's top musical performers came together as BAND-AID with hopes of raising money to help the starving masses in Ethiopia. 7. Personal computers became an increasingly important part of American life as sales soared. 8. PETER UBEROTH, the co-ordinator of the Los Angeles Olympics, brought the spirit of the games into the hearts of millions around the world. 9. MARY LOU RETTON became an American hero as she achieved two perfect vault scores to win the gold medal in gymnastics. 10. As WALTER MONDALE'S running-mate, GERALDINE FERRARO became the first lady to be nominated by a major political party for one of the two highest elected offices in the land. 11. The TRIVIAL PURSUIT craze exploded as young and old alike set out on their quest for knowledge. 12. Many people had mixed feelings as a baboon's heart was transplanted into newborn BABY FAE in hopes of a medical breakthrough.

Oh! What A Year!

Each year the Citadel class is confronted with the challenge of producing the best yearbook it possibly can, a task often easier said than done. What is contained between the covers of this volume is to many people only page-after-page of pictures. However, to each member of the yearbook staff, these pages represent the endless chore of refining layouts, the fun times of taking photographs, the constant specter of deadlines, the writing and re-writing of numerous pages of copy and captions, the anticipation of placing the right names with the right pictures, the many new friendships made, and the dedication and teamwork necessary to publish a good yearbook. Although the class had a good time and got most of the job done, a yearbook would be impossible to complete without the co-operation of many others. The Citadel staff is thankful for the assistance given it by: Geoff Barton, Reuben Brasser, the LHS coaching staff, Erwin Eisenberger, Donald Hopkins, Chrissie Kaveney, Mike Kelly, Kerry Leidich, Dennis Lyman, Morris Studios, Gay Otto, Matt Paul, Margaret Rigard, Robert Severns, Mary Ann Stump, Donna Taylor, Taylor Publishing Company and Stephen Eddy, Nancy Torres and to the entire student body and staff.
